This document includes lists of Gwinnett County schools that are “cleared for takeoff”, some are currently partnering with churches and some are ready to start partnering with Unite! churches who would like to send volunteers into their schools. James Rayford (Gwinnett County Public Schools) is working alongside of Drue Warner (Unite! Education Impact Area Director) to mobilize volunteers from local churches and communities into our local public schools.

If you contact a school directly, be sure to mention say, “I was referred to your school by James Rayford, Gwinnett County Director of Academic Support. Our church is a part of the Unite! network of churches that is working with Gwinnett County Public Schools to mobilize volunteers into schools, and we’d like to know how we can help.”
